Guidelines for Advertising in Dayton Chamber Newsletter

- The purpose of providing advertising space in the DCOC newsletter is to promote our member businesses and provide added benefit to members for their annual dues.
- No political advertisements shall be allowed.
- Advertisement shall be limited to promoting business listed in the membership. The ability to advertise is not transferable to any other entity.
- Advertisement is only available to business members. Individual members are not extended this privilege as no business name is listed.
- Advertisements shall be labeled clearly in the newsletter and the business is expected to follow all appropriate advertising guidelines when creating their ad.
- The Chamber of Commerce takes no responsibility for advertisements in the newsletter. The business is expected to provide an ad to the DCOC office in a Word or Publisher Document and should not be larger than approximately 4” x 10” including graphics. The Chamber shall not create ads for businesses.
- Ad space is limited and therefore available on a first come, first serve basis, however members who have not advertised before shall take precedence over members who have advertised in the past.
- The Dayton Chamber of Commerce reserves the full right to refuse any add which it believes is not appropriate for the newsletter. The Chamber has final right of refusal and this right is not subject to appeal.
